FAST DAY RECORD SET BY CROWDS AT FRIDAY FAIR

Twenty-five Hundred Pass the Gates on the Biggest Closing Day in History

CLIPSES 1915 MARKS

Despite Three Days of Bad
Weather the Attendance
Is About 3,500
Larger

The largest crowd ever to visit the fair on a Friday thronged the Interstate fair grounds Friday on the fast day of what is believed to have been the greatest exposition in the history of the city according to the statements of Secretary C. L. Van Aken, who declared at the close of the day that the fair would be a financial success. That, he declared, is due to the great attendance of Friday, 7,500 people passed through the turnstiles Friday in the record-breaking day, according to Treasurer

A. Bartl.
The four days attendance for this fair was approximately 3,200 greater than in 1915, according to available figures. The approximate 1916 mark is 26,500, apportioned as follows:
Tuesday 8,000, Wednesday 6,000,
Thursday 8,000, Friday 7,500.

The 1915 attendance of about 23,000
was divided this way: Tuesday
6,300, Wednesday 4,900, Thursday
8,000, Friday 4,000.

Closing Day Ideal Clear skies and a decided touch of autumn in the air served to make the closing day an ideal one from every viewpoint. The midway was gay with people and barkers, the concessionaires experiencing a business day probably on a par with Thursday. The carnival shows were crowded throughout the afternoon and vendors of "hot dogs" and
"with-or-withouts" several times were obliged to lay in additional supplies.
Hot coffee and buns were passed out in army fashion.

In the grandstand contentment reigned. A perfect track, racing weather nearly perfect, despite a tinge of frost in the atmosphere, a good field, and admirable music by the North Side Military band put the racing fans in good humor and the cracker-jack and peanut vendors profited accordingly. The vaudeville attractions on the stage in front of the grandstand outdied themselves
and when the people left the stand it was with a feeling of satisfaction toward the efforts of the fair management.

Many Watch Footballers
One attraction not billed was that of the normal football players, who came onto the field in front of the grandstand early in the afternoon and proceeded to show their wares to the fair folks. It took immensely, a large number remaining in the stands to watch their work.

The fair grounds Saturday were well nigh deserted, save for a few concessionaires and exhibitors. The work of removing the blue ribboned
and non-blue ribboned swine, horses, cattle and poultry commenced in the middle afternoon and by nightfall had progressed far. A majority of the midway stands were torn down by the carnival people ready for the next jump. The art building was stripped Saturday of its great displays and machinery exhibits were mostly removed during the day.

Before the last heat of the last race was completed many speed entries were already on their way to their side Pullmans. The string of race horses continued from the grounds to the railroad yards until late into the night. Only a few steeds remained in the ground Saturday.

That the exposition would have been a record breaker is the belief of the fair management.
"Had Thursday been as pleasant
as Friday," Secretary C. S. Van Aken said Saturday, "fifteen thousand people would have attended the fair." Mr. Van Aken was highly pleased with the attendance of the week, discounting the effect of bad weather.

CITY ORCHESTRA'S FIRST REHEARSAL TO BE ON SUNDAY

A general invitation to all musicians in the city, whether amateur or professional, was issued on Saturday morning by officers of the new Municipal orchestra, in announcing their first rehearsal Sunday afternoon. Everyone and his instrument will be welcome. It was announced.
The rehearsal will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the K. P.
hall, 508 Main street.

TEDDY IN MICHIGAN

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 30.—
Colonel Roosevelt came to Battle Creek Saturday to inject some ginger into the presidential campaign. He said so himself. He was to speak late Saturday afternoon at an old fashioned barbecue and rally on the circus grounds under the auspices of the five surrounding counties.

Allied Gains On Somme Greatly Exceed German Advance In Verdun Fight

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
GRAND HEADQUARTERS OF THE FRENCH ARMIES, Sept. 30.—
In the first thirteen weeks of the Somme offensive the French and British have captured more ground than has been taken by the Germans in more than six months of battling at Verdun.
A survey of the results of the great allied drive, halted temporarily Friday by a terrific downpour of rain, shows that the allies have recon-quered 285 square kilometres of French territory (about 92 square miles) exceeding by fifteen kilometres the territory gained by the Germans at Verdun.

Forty-five villages, each one organized into a veritable fortress by the Teutons, have fallen before the battering of French and British artillery. In every instance the German position was so strong that it had to be broken down by shell fire
before infantry could storm it.

A total of 63,000 prisoners, 285
cannons, half of which are heavy artillery pieces and more than one thousand machine guns have been taken.

Everywhere, from the Ancre to a point near Chaumes, the German first, second and third lines are completely in the hands of the allies, who this week were rushing through hastily constructed German trenches
for great gains when bad weather halted operations.

PRIVATE HOGAN IS BACK FOR THIRTY DAYS FROM FRONT

Prominent Businessman Enjoying Home-cooking After Season of Army
Fare

Private Jim Hogan, Company M,
Third Wisconsin, who is perhaps better known as Mr. James C. Hogan, prominent La Crosse business man,
is home, bronzed and wiry on a furlough from the "war zone." Thirty days is the term of leave which Mr.
Hogan is enjoying from the Texas border.

Private Hogan apparently is "fed up" on the army beans and bacon
which were served out twice a day on the long hike from San Antonio to Austin, which he recently finished as a member of the Twelfth provisional Brigade. He was too busy with home-cooking to talk on Saturday.

"I'm eating my dinner," Private Hogan said, when called over the telephone. "Any other time I would be glad to be interviewed."

"And then," he added, "you know
the army rule about talking in public. I don't want to serve six months in the guard house."

MUST HAVE DRAW IN ISLAND BRIDGE SAYS WAR OFFICE

Five thousand dollars were added to the cost of the new bridge over Black river at one swoop when a letter was received by city officials Saturday from the war department, refusing to change the status of the stream from its present designation
as a navigable water. As a navigable stream, the bridge spanning Black river must have a draw-span. A draw-span will add approximately $5,000 to the cost of the bridge, City Engineer George P. Bradish said on Saturday.

The bridge will cost in the neighborhood of $56,000, according to an estimate furnished the joint city, county and township committee
which is handling the new bridge matter.

The war department said that a special act of congress would be necessary to change the Black river designation.

Villistas Beaten At Cusiuhirachic Capital Hears

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Two hundred and fifty Villistas, who attacked the Carranza garrison of 150, were driven off in the recent battle at Cusiuhirachic, according to state department dispatches Saturday. One dispatch said Villa commanded the attackers.

Encamped at Mines
EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 30.—Panche Villa and his forces are encamped at the properties of the four Americanowned mines near Cusiuhirachic, following Wednesday's battle with de facto troops, according to the last reports received here Saturday.

Carranzista authorities claim two victories for de facto troops but details of Wednesday's fighting received by United States secret office agents here indicate that both opposing forces had retreated and that the battle was without result.

Led by hundred Villistas, said the report, attacked Cusiuhirachic Wednesday and captured the town with but little bloodshed. Part of the garrison revolted and joined the bandits.

G. O. P. PLATFORM NOT SINCERE IS WILLIAMS' CHARGE

Three Hundred People Applaud Democratic Candidate for Governor in Court House Talk

HE PRAISES WILSON

Accuses Philipp Administration
of Enmity to Child Labor Regulation in Quarry
Bill

The Philipp administration's motives and its legislative acts and inspirations were vigorously flayed before an audience of three hundred people in the circuit court room at the court house Friday night by Burt Williams, Ashland, democratic candidate for governor. Prefaced by a ringing defense of the democratic national administration, Mr. Williams' speech aroused his audience to repeated bursts of applause.

"The savior of the nation," "the country's foremost citizen" were among the encomiums applied to President Wilson by the speaker. A hearty clatter of applause followed Mr. Williams' first mention of the name of Woodrow Wilson.

A vigorous defense of the Adamson eight-hour law also was well received. Mr. Williams declared "whoever stands against the principle of the eight hour day does not see the signs of the times."

Mr. Williams characterized the eight-hour bill as the "greatest piece of legislation in recent years." He declared that it is fundamentally for the betterment of American labor,
and will operate to improve conditions everywhere. He read a statement of Henry Ford, the automobile maker, which declared the shorter work-day not only good for the men but conducive of business efficiency.

Mr. Williams discussed at some length the present prosperity of this country, and won applause by a tribute to the president for maintaining the nation at peace in the European war.

His discussion of state issues, however, came down to brass tacks with a charge that the present administration has prepared a platform of insincerity, a document of words calculated to mislead and mask regard for special privilege. Speaking of the state situation, Mr. Williams said:

"Voters nowadays do not swallow party platforms with the incredulity of olden times. They consider party platforms of consequence only when they breathe sincerity, purpose and honest intention, and when made by a party in power, the platform
must be justified by a record of acts in full and complete harmony with the spirit of the planks offered to the voters. Too often have the friends of special privilege written platforms with enticing phrases to catch the voter, when such platforms were simply a sham and pretense to hide the real motives and purposes of these servers of special interests and today the average voter looks behind the platform and reads the personal lives, acts, professions, and citizenship of the men who write them to learn if such platforms ring true or craftily hide deception and betrayal."

G. O. P. Platform Insincere

"Measured by these standards I openly declare that never in Wisconsin has there been a platform written that has in it more mockery,
pretense, insincerity, or subterfuge
than the one adopted by the forces controlling the present state administration."

"The men who dominated that platform convention have given lives of service in legislative halls and outside to advance the interest of big business and special privilege in Wisconsin and yet their platform professions would indicate that they are fighters at all times for the interests of ALL the people."

"These men in their personal relationship with the toilers and workers of Wisconsin have fought every movement to uplift citizenship and bring more humane welfare to Wisconsin, and yet they write professions of loyalty and service to the masses of the people." One of the members of the committee on resolutions at this platform convention in Madison, W.
T. Evjue, who wanted acts and motives to harmonize with records and professions, issued a public statement after the meeting telling of the work of the forces behind the present administration in platform making and this is what Mr. Evjue, a republican, said:

"The platform is simply a come-along affair. To anyone sitting in the committee on resolutions, as I did, this was absolutely apparent. It was an afternoon and evening spent in playing with words. The only mental strain prevalent was in the selection of high-sounding phrases which didn't mean anything. It was simply a game of verbal acrobatics with the object of framing something that might look progressive and at the same time something that could be used later on for reactionary purposes."

Points Contrast

"Perhaps no more startling evidence of inconsistency, insincerity,

RUMANIANS DEALT STINGING DEFEAT AT HERMANNSTADT

Part of Army Annihilated, Remnants Fleeing to the South, Berlin Reports

IMPORTANT HEIGHTS FALL

Berlin and Vienna Reports Indicate Resistance of the Rumanians Is Diminishing

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Teutonic
forces have inflicted a severe defeat
on the Rumanian troops that occupied Hermannstadt, former capitol of Transylvania, it was officially announced Saturday afternoon.

By an encircling attack, the Teu-tons drove the Rumanians southward. Part of the first Rumanian army was annihilated, the remnants fleeing in disorder.

Report Heights Captured
LONDON, Sept. 30.—Reports from Berlin and Vienna indicate that the Rumanians about Hermannstadt in Transylvania have been driven back to ward the border after some violent fighting.

Vienna says the heights south and southeast of the town have been captured by the Austro-German troops.

The battle has not been concluded,
but Berlin insists that the resistance of the Rumanians has become weaker.

Only minor actions in the Dobru-dja are reported.

SEVEN "MOBS" OF PICKPOCKETS HERE FOR FAIR CROWDS

Three Broken Up and Two Others So Scared They Feared to Operate

No less than seven "mobs" of pickpockets invaded La Crosse to prey upon Inter-State fair crowds, according to information given Chief of Police John Webber Saturday by one of the light-fingered gentry Thursday evening. A "mob" is the pickpockets working unit of three men—one to "stall" the victim, and two other active, deft-digged youths to perform the actual work of separating him from his valuables.

But all seven of the "mobs" did not work. Three were broken up by the police, including that headed by the notorious Solly Cohen. Two others, the confidential "dip" informed the chief, were so alarmed at what befell their fellows that they stayed inactive in their hotel, and left town for easier fields as soon as night fell.

Only two pocketbooks were reported missing during the fair. The three under arrest at central station Saturday agreed to make good the losses sustained by the victims in return for their freedom. Inasmuch as the police had indirect evidence against them their bargain was accepted.

BARREL OF GAME FISH SEIZED AND FISHER IS FINED

A shipment of game fish to Chicago, seized by Conservation Agent E.
W. Gautsch here on Tuesday, caused Walter Fisher, local fisherman, to pay a fine of $25 in Caledonia, Minn., for violation of the Minnesota game laws. Fisher was arrested at Brownsville on Wednesday by the sheriff of Houston county, after having been notified of the discovery by the Wisconsin warden.

NEED SPECIAL ELECTION

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 30.—The senatorial vacancy created by the appointment of Senator A. T. Fairchild, Milwaukee, to a circuit judgship in that district and his subsequent resignation, will have to be filled by a special election to be held on the day of the general election,
November 7, according to an opinion
by Attorney General Owen to Governor Philipp.

AUTO BANDITS IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 30.—
Auto bandits invaded Milwaukee Saturday and held up two women. The women were rushed from behind and before they realized what had happened, their purses had been snatched from their hands. The bandits, of whom there were three, escaped in the auto.

Richland Center Bad Man Kills Cop With Fist

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis., Sept.
30.—With a single blow of his fist,
Layton Fogo, local bad man, Friday killed George Barto, a special policeman at the Richland county fair.
The killing took place when Barto attempted to stop a fight between Fogo
and two others on the fair grounds.

Fogo, who has a long police record, was said to have been intoxicated. He started a fight on the grounds. Barto, who was a frail man physically, stepped in to stop
it. Fogo shot his fist to Barto's chin and the latter fell. He was immediately taken to the hospital, but never regained consciousness, dying two hours later. Fogo is held in the county jail here, charged with second degree murder.

CHURCHES UNITE FOR MISSION FUND

Last Sunday in October Will See a Big Meeting in a Local Theater

TO JOIN ON TURKEY DAY
Committee Named to Look Into Proposal for Revival Services

Pastors and laymen of the fourteen Protestant churches affiliated with the Federation of La Crosse churches met at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday night in their first fall gathering and pledged their united support for a union church meeting in one larger theaters on the last Sunday of October. The meeting will be in the form of a benefit for the La Crosse Rescue Mission, which soon closes its fiscal year.

Plans will be formed to bring speakers prominent in the rescue mission field. A committee was appointed to arrange details for the affair.

Twenty-five representatives of the churches belonging to the federation were present and enthusiasm ran high in the proposed work for the winter months.

A committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of an evangelical campaign in La Crosse during the coming winter. It was decided to have the usual union church services on the North and South sides on Thanksgiving day.

President F. H. Scofield and Secretary Henry Clay Evenson had charge of the meeting.

EIGHTY-THREE WHO BALKED AT NOTES HOLD MEET

The eighty-three farmers of Houston and Winona counties who gave notes in the amount of $100 each for stock in the Farmers' Co-operative Market company here, and who have refused to meet them, are holding another "indignation" meeting at Dakota, Minn., Saturday afternoon.

The farmers, who have retained Attorney Frank E. Withrow, are backing David De Colon, farmer near La Crosse, who is being sued by the La Crosse State bank for the recovery of $100 due on a similar note.
The suit will be heard by Judge Leonard Kleeber in his justice court
October 4.

It is claimed that when the farmers contracted for stock in the Market company they were promised a warehouse at Dakota and other things, which they say they did not get.

The decision of the De Colon suit
will probably determine the validity of the Market company's claim on the other note holders.

REMAINING GUARDS OF MICHIGAN ARE ORDERED TO LINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The remaining Michigan militia, between 1,500 and 2,000 men, have been ordered to the border, the war department announced Saturday.

LOYD-GEORGE SPEECH SATISFIES ITALIANS

BY JOHN H. HEARLEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
ROME, Sept. 30.—"A proper reply to Germany in view of Bethmann-Hollweg's speech," was the Giornale D'Italia's characterization of David Lloyd-George's statement to the United Press that England was determined to carry the war to a knockout.

All the Italian newspapers joined with officials in enthusiastic approval of the British war secretary's declarations.
The Lloyd-George interview was interpreted here as a special warning to the United States not to make peace overtures at the present time.

MORGAN TO FLOAT QUARTER BILLION BRITISH WAR LOAN?

Financier Booked to Sail for England, Is Report in New York Financial Circles

CLIMAX TO BULL MOVE

Twenty Million-share Days Believed Result of Movement to Create Optimism

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—J. P. Morgan, financier, sailed for England on the American liner New York at noon Saturday, to float a new quarter billion dollar British war loan, according to reports in financial circles here. Henry P. Davidson, Morgan's partner, has been in England for several weeks presumably arranging details of the loan which is to be secured by collateral consisting mainly of American securities.

While Morgan's firm said the trip
was largely for pleasure purposes, Wall street firmly believed he is planning to arrange a companion loan to the half billion the allies raised here last year.

The new loan, if floated, will come
as a climax to three weeks of bull activities on the New York Stock exchange, started, according to the accepted belief of Wall street, in order to develop a sentiment of optimism and prosperity among investors such as would facilitate placing the new British bonds.

Twenty million-share days on the Stock exchange have sent prices to new high levels. Bond buying has been so heavy that bond brokers report a demand for them in excess of the supply of high grade securities
and the boom in Wall street has extended to the curb where the advances in standard oil subsidiaries
have, it is estimated, made John D.
Rockefeller the world's first billionaire.

Gains in Standard Oil stocks Friday, according to estimates made Thursday, added $32,000,000 to the aggregate value of the Standard Oil securities. John D. Rockefeller's share of this increase was estimated at $8,028,000.

While brokers on the street were betting that the run of million share
day would exceed the straight victory string of the New York Giants before the bull movement comes to a halt, figures on United States Steel showed that the common stock of the big corporation had increased in valuation $35,000,000 in a single day. At the record high of 120%, the five million shares of United States Steel common were valued at $612,000,000 against $330,000,000
two months ago.

During the past few months the American public has taken $50,000,- 000 in Russian bonds, $100,000,000 French notes, $50,000,000 City of Paris bonds and $250,000,000 British collateral notes. The loan which Morgan is now said to be negotiating would increase the total flotation
in this country in three months to $700,000,000.

"WHAT WOULD YOU SUGGEST" WILSON ASKS MR. HUGHES

Until Question Is Answered, President Indicates, Administration Will Dwell on Its Acts

BY ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 30.— President Wilson late Saturday was to sound a call to the young men of the country to join the democratic party.

In a speech at Shadow Lawn, to be delivered to 2,000 representatives of the Young Men's League of Democratic clubs, the president will clearly define what he believes are the real issues of the campaign.

Not what would the republicans have done, but what would it suggest doing now, is what the president will ask. Until these answers are given, the president may be expected merely to explain what he hopes his administration may accomplish through its acts—not to dwell at length on the achievements themselves.

Hits Disloyals

President Wilson made it plain on Friday night that he wants no "disloyal" American to vote for him. He expressed indignation over a telegram from Jeremiah A. O'Leary of New York, president of the American Truth society, accusing him of being pro-British and saying he had failed to obtain compliance with American rights.

The president sent Mr. O'Leary a short telegram: "Your telegram received. I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anybody like you vote for me. Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

WEEK'S OFFERING IN MOVIELAND AS SEEN IN LA CROSSE

By N. D. Teas

MARY PICKFORD COMING NEXT WEEK IN LONG PROMISED "HULDA FROM HOLLAND"—MAE MARSH TO BRING LIFE TO PHOTOPLAY PROGRAMS IN "THE LITTLE LIAR"—MABEL TALIAFERRO BIDS WELL TO BE POPULAR IN "GOD'S HALF ACRE"—"THE DARK SILENCE," "THE GIRL OF LOST LAKE" AND "LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE" GIVE PROMISE OF REAL ENTERTAINMENTS. MAJESTIC CONTRACTS FOR SERIES OF BEST "PICKS" OF NEW COMPANY

Bijou

MISS MARIE DORO is closing a successful three day engagement at the Bijou today in "Common Ground," a big production from the studios of Jesse L. Lasky. With Thomas Meighan playing opposite the prominent star, the picture has a wealth of good points which were appreciated by large audiences. Photographs are also on the closing program of the week.

"Hulda From Holland"

Mary Pickford, in "Hulda From Holland," will be the welcome attraction at the Bijou Sunday. Miss Pickford will play for three days. The little star, idol of every movie fan, and the chief attraction of Famous Players, is to be seen in La Crosse for the last time under the banner of Paramount. She has left that company, and an enormous salary, to make pictures for a corporation which she, herself, heads. Miss Pickford's work in "Hulda From Holland" is said to be her very best and that means a highly entertaining motion picture.

"From Carlsbad to Moravia" is the title of the Burton Holmes travelogue pictures appearing on the same program.

"The Dark Silence"

There will be two World picture days at the Bijou during the coming week owing to the fact that Clara Kimball Young will appear in her World production, "The Dark Silence." Paul Capellan, who played opposite the star in "Camille" is cast as her partner in this play. The story deals with the conditions in France at the time war was declared. Many of the scenes were taken in Paris and many battle scenes are shown. It will be the Bijou's attraction next Wednesday and Thursday.

Two Paramount Stars

"The House with the Golden Windows," a Paramount offering, will bring Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid to the Bijou Friday and Saturday to close the week to come. The scenes of the plays were taken in the oil fields of California and the picture tells a human story.

Casino

THAT PICTURE we've heard so much about and one the picture fan has been waiting for a long time, namely "A Night Out," with the celebrated comedian, Charley Chaplin, is holding attention at the Casino today. Another one of those interesting "Reel Life" educational pictures and a feature called "The Demon of Fear," share honors with Charles.

"God's Half Acre"

A gripping photoplay is to be presented at the Casino Sunday when Mabel Taliaferro appears as the star in "God's Half Acre," a much-talked-about Metro production directed by the famous Edwin Carewe. Miss Taliaferro's best Metro pictures in the past have been "The Snow Bird," and "Her Great Price." Her stage career included "Polly of the Circus."

WITH THE INTER-STATE FAIR OVER and the special photoplay programs brought for the week but memories—although pleasant memories—attention is being turned to the week to come. And those seven days hold much joy in store. Among the best films will be "The Little Liar," with Miss Mae Marsh, and "The Thoroughbred," bringing Frank Keenan to the Majestic; "Hulda from Holland," starring little Mary Pickford, and "The Dark Silence," with Clara Kimball Young, at the Bijou; "The Dragon," with Margarita Fischer, at the Strand; "The White Rosette," and "The Soul Market," the latter with Mme. Petrova, at the Dome, and "God's Half Acre," with Mabel Taliaferro, at the Casino. That house will also show a three-year-old star of Filmland in "Little Mary Sunshine."

F. L. KOPPELBERGER, manager of the Majestic theater, has secured a contract for all the best productions of the new Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay Photoplay company, the new corporation formed from some of the best known producing agencies in the country. The new program will open at the Majestic Tuesday, October 17 and 18, with "The Country That God Forgot," which has the famous cast of "The Spoilers." It will be followed by William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes." Other pictures to be shown soon are "Return of Eve," "Heart of the Hills," "Prince of Graustark," "The Chaperone," and "Message of Garcia."

MARY PICKFORD is appearing at the Bijou next week in "Hulda from Holland," and incidentally it will be the little star's last visit to a La Crosse screen while she is connected with Famous Players, contributors to Paramount. She has formed a corporation of her own and will work for Mary Pickford in the future. We don't blame her.

A MIGHTY BIG PICTURE in every sense of the word was "The Reapers," with John Mason, a leading attraction at the Casino this week. The picture is a classic of the screen, made so by the work of Mason and an extraordinary cast of actors.

THE BIJOU ANNOUNCES a group of really big Paramount and World productions to be shown in the near future. Among them are "A Woman in the Case," with Pauline Frederick; "The Revolt," a World film, with Francis Nelson, and "Little Lady Eileen," bringing the dainty Marguerite Clark.

MANAGER F. J. McWILLIAMS, of the Casino and Strand, has answered the call of Fred J. McGlachlin, chief of the La Crosse fire department, who has asked that some big photoplay dealing with danger from fire be shown here October 9, which will be Fire Prevention day in Wisconsin. The Casino program on that day will include a picture based on the famous shirt-waist factory fire in New York City, in which scores of young women lost their lives.

HOWARD HICKMAN, who plays the dominant role of Count Ferdinand, the submarine inventor, in Thos. H. Ince's million dollar spectacle, "Civilization," coming to the La Crosse theater October 22 for four days, was formerly leading man in the photoplays for Julia Dean. He has had an unusually varied career. Originally his parents intended him for the ministry, but Hickman devoted his interests to things as remote from the pulpit as real estate, electrical engineering and the drama. He secured a small role at the old Grand Opera house in San Francisco in Sarah Bernhardt's company, appearing with her in "L'Aiglon" and "Cyrano De Bergerac." He next played Shakespearean parts with Joseph Haworth, but after two years resigned from the Bard of Avon's plays to make his debut in musical comedy with Eva Tanguay.

The picture will continue at the Main street theater over Monday and Tuesday.

Three-Year-Old Is Star

A three-year-old star of filmland will be seen at the Casino Wednesday when Marie Osborne plays the leading role in "Little Mary Sunshine." She takes the part of a motherless child, and enters into a big love story, of which she is the center. The tot holds attention from first to last. "Little Mary Sunshine" will also be a Thursday attraction.

Strand

MISS MARY BOLAND, popular star of Equitable-World productions, will appear in "The Price of Happiness," as the feature of the Jackson street theater's week-end offering today. The picture is woven around a story of an unusual theme. After seeking happiness outside her home the woman returns to find real joy. The photography is of the best, and Miss Boland's work is beyond reproach.

"The Dragon"

Margarita Fischer plays a clever dual role in "The Dragon," another Equitable film to be the Strand attraction Sunday. Miss Fischer has the characters of "Elizabeth," and "Messalla." She is the unwitting means of revenging her father of his financial losses and the grief over the loss of his young wife. She goes Fifth Avenue unto and there meets the foes who have wrecked her parent's career. A notable cast supports the star.

A bill of vaudeville will be presented by the Strand management on Monday with a photoplay.

Bluebird's "Undine"

"Undine," the Bluebird production seen here recently, is going to be a welcomed attraction at the Strand on Tuesday. By many the picture has been called superb. The sea scenes are gorgeous, the story is a pretty one, wound around a fairy tale, and the photography is par-excellence.

The Strand management is planning to stage several contests during the Friday evening program.

Domedope

WILLIAM FARNUM, seen in photoplays in La Crosse many times, and a favorite of the scores of stars, is being featured at the Dome today in "A Man of Sorrows." The picture is from the Fox studios.

"The White Rosette"

"The White Rosette," a Mutual Masterpicture production, will be the Rose street theater's offering on Sunday. With it will be a two-part Keystone comedy called "Ambrose's Sour Grapes."

Monday and Tuesday bring Francis X. Bushman in "The Voice in the Wilderness." "The Girl of Gold Gulch," another short drama, and "When It Rains It Pours," a comedy, are also on the attractive bill, Selig news pictures, always popular, are also going to be shown.

"The Soul Market"

Madame Petrova, well known Metro actress, will appear in her famous picture, "The Soul Market," at the Dome on Wednesday.

Kathlyn Williams, who was seen recently at the Bijou in "The Ne'er Do Well," will be the central attraction at the Dome Thursday and Friday when she stars in "The Return." On the same program Helen Gibson, the star of "The Hazards of Helen" films, will be seen in "To Save the Road." The comedy for the two days will be "Otto, the Traffic Cop."

Majestic

IF THERE IS ONE ACTOR of the realm of the photoplay whom La Crosse never tires of that man is William S. Hart. Hart came back as strong as ever, and better than ever at the Majestic during the last part of the present week in "The Patriot." His role—that of one of Uncle Sam's soldiers—was a new one for Hart but he was as enjoyable as ever. He is playing tonight for the last time.

"The Little Liar"

Miss Mae Marsh, delightful star of Triangle productions, and Robert Harron, will co-star at the Majestic Sunday and Monday in "The Little Liar." Miss Marsh is said to be at her best and one Chicago critic says the pictureplay deserves a place on the movie "five-foot shelf." She plays the role of Maggie, alley girl, who has the romance weaving soul of youth. "Bobbie" Harron, as welcome here as is Miss Marsh herself, is seen in a cleverly worked out part.

Miss Billie Burke's work in "Gloria's Romance" will be completed at the Majestic in one more week. She appears in the now famous serial on the same program with Miss Marsh in the nineteenth chapter of the twenty-part story.

"Girl of Lost Lake"

"The Girl of Lost Lake" is to be the feature attraction Tuesday and Wednesday when Myrtle Gonzalez, Val Paul and Fred Church are the principals of a good cast, playing "The Girl of Lost Lake."

"The Thoroughbred"

Frank Keenan is scheduled to return to favor in La Crosse when he appears next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Thoroughbred," a Triangle. He is cast as Major Ainslee, who lives among his horses. Things have been going bad with the major, but he looks to "Miss Minta" to win a big purse and put him and his charming daughter on their feet. But then comes the new minister, who both fall in love with Betty and secures the passage of a state law to end horse racing. But the minister sees the need and even aids the major in his hour of need. Both the horse and the minister win.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A MATTER OF MOMENTUM

By ELSIE SEE
(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
"Alma, when do you start on your trip?"
"Tomorrow at nine, Warren."
Warren Dean's car sped silently along the parkway to Alma's home and neither of them spoke again until he drew up at the curb.
"And when you have finished your book?" he asked.
"A month or so of rest in the mountains."
"And then?"
"Oh, another book, perhaps; that's the usual way, I believe."

Alma, dear, don't think me unsympathetic. I'm proud of you as you are, but some day the book of your own life must have its new chapters written in. I've asked you twice for the big role in that book, and I shall continue to ask you until you confront me with a rival more formidable than your embryo books. Warren's eyes searched her eagerly as he assisted her from the car.

"We've been such good friends that I truly wish we might be more, Warren, but unless I felt that we must be more it would be unfair to us both to give you the answer you want now," said Alma gently.

"Good-by," said Warren, at the porch steps. "And remember that if you ever want me or need me I'll be waiting for you all." The next day, Alma set out for a little mountain village where she worked throughout the summer on her book. By September, the book was finished and its first installment as a serial was going into type for the November issue of a leading magazine. Alma went from the village to a ranch, thinking she would have absolute quiet there, but the ranchman's wife received so many telephone calls over the noisy party line, and every spoken word penetrated the thin walls of the small house so completely that silence was at a premium within the house. This did not annoy her greatly, though, for it was the outdoors she loved. Early every morning she was either tramping or climbing or riding horseback in the clear crisp air that hinted of frosts not far away.

Books, letters and magazines reached her in each semi-weekly mail delivery, but Warren's letters had gradually become shorter and fewer. When she had been absorbed in her book she had scarcely noticed this, but now that she was idle and in a receptive frame of mind for news from outside, she began to take note of the thinness and fewness of the letters.

"Ah, well," she said to herself one afternoon, "it's like a man to want to be everything or nothing, but I'll climb upon Eagle Rock with a new magazine for company and leave all men to their fate."

Somehow, though, after Alma had made the slow climb to the big rock, the new magazine seemed only a mass of printing broken at intervals by illustrations. She sat watching the clouds pass below the highest point of a distant mountain, but her thoughts were of Warren. She had unconsciously been loosening a round rock with the restless movement of her foot, and was surprised when the stone suddenly bounded down the mountain side. It bumped along at first, but as it struck the protruding edge of a large boulder, it shot out and steadily gained in momentum until it landed in the sandy gulch far below.

Alma got up and looked about for another rock she could dislodge. She found one larger and rounder which she loosened with considerable difficulty. Just as it was ready to be given a final push she remembered the schoolgirl custom of naming apple seeds and corners of rooms to determine whether certain youths loved certain girls.

"I'll name this rock for Warren," she said to herself, "and if it goes all the way down to the gulch he loves me; if it stops by the way he loves me not."

She gave it a push and it went crashing down among the aspens, but contact with some scrubby oaks checked its progress and when it reached the large overhanging boulder it was rolling feebly along. Just as Alma was ready to murmur, "He loves me not," the rock rolled over the edge of the big boulder and went on down with such force that it struck sparks from other stones as it drove surely and rapidly to the gulch below, where it embedded itself in the red sand.

"He loves me," even if he doesn't write," Alma laughed at her childishness, but the incident made her feel happy, and she descended the trail feeling strangely elated.

When she reached the ranch house a large touring car stood at the yard gate. Two women in ulsters and veils sat on the rear seat, and the chauffeur was carrying water to quiet the rumbling of the overheated engine. Alma passed hurriedly into the house, and in the narrow hall she encountered a faint perfume which suggested a type of woman she did not like. Then she heard the shrill voice of the ranchman's wife trying to get telephone connection with a big hotel at a summer resort forty miles away. The voice came clearly through the thin walls into Alma's room. "Here they are, madam," it said, "here's the Elkhorn House."

"Please let me speak to Mr. Brown, the desk clerk," said a woman's rich voice that had a familiar sound to Alma. When the woman spoke again Alma clasped her hand over her mouth to smother an exclamation. It was the voice of a woman she knew and disliked, but a woman famed as bewitching widow. "This is Mrs. Atwill speaking. Mr. Brown. We lost our way and have just succeeded in locating ourselves. I'm expecting some friends from the East. Has Mr. Warren Dean, of New York, registered yet?" A brief silence. "No? Then he may arrive on the 7 o'clock train. If so, will you kindly tell him of our delay and say we shall be there not later than eight? Thank you."

Consider the Position
Harold had eaten most generously of good things and ended a day of feasting and mirth by curling up in the corner of the fireplace and emitting a bark for the Land of Nod. When some one discovered him and picked him up to carry him off to bed he opened one sleepy eye to give this caution:
"Put me to bed, but don't bend me."

A general spirit of debt paying will do wonders in building up a community. The merchants will not have to charge so much for their goods if they can avoid bad accounts. They will feel more confidence to go ahead and spend money and make improvements, and the whole town will grow and prosper.

As soon as you enter the reading room you see that the designers have made a grave mistake. They should have put the reading room on the other side. The long hall with its rank of long tables looks directly out over the lake. The rich purple waters dappled with white-capped clouds stretch out to where the purple meets the dim sky. They call insistently with the call of spray-water lakes and open spaces. A great lake steamer hovers in the distance like the ghost of a ship floating on a cloud. It is a magnificent view, but it makes it hard to concentrate on a philosophic treatise.

knowing him weak, yet she loved him. It was silly to love so suddenly. She frowned at the floor and thought of her mother and of what this man had made her suffer, and yet she loved him. He was hers, but more blessed still, she was his, his as she would never be any other man's, though she married a thousand times, his in a relationship pure and sweet and unbreakable. There was not a law in the land that could make her not his child.

BORDER SITUATION BRINGS U. S. DEFENSE NEARER PERFECTION

By WEBB MILLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 30.—With 100,000 state militia troops strung from gulf to gulf, the border is now a gigantic eighteen-hundred-mile-long training camp and preparedness experiment station. The guardsmen are being drilled ceaselessly and whipped into condition as for actual warfare. Out of the tangled Mexican situation the United States will emerge with a new citizen army of 150,000 men.

Not only are the men being prepared but millions of dollars in equipment is being added to the army permanently. When the guardsmen detained on the border they were only partly equipped for war under any conditions. With few exceptions they would have been able to take the field only after a long delay for necessary equipment.

But when they leave the border Uncle Sam will have at least 150,000 "citizen soldiers" ready to "spring to arms before sundown in defense of their country."

Here are some of the material things the "Mexican situation" and mobilization of the national guard has done:

Provided a new army of more than 100,000 trained citizen soldiers.

Added 1,000 motor trucks with trained civilian and soldier drivers and mechanics. Before the Columbus raid we had but a few score machines.

Added about forty new aeroplanes to the motor squadron with an adequate motor truck convoy and automobile machine shops. Two weeks after Pershing crossed the border we had not one machine in flying condition.

Added 65,000 horses and mules to the equipment of the army, including in this the thousand-and-one articles that go with such an increase.

Gave impetus to tests of machine guns, bomb-dropping devices and photographic devices to bring the aero squadron to modern efficiency.

Brought forcibly to the attention of the war department the need for hundreds of machine guns that would shoot. Tests of different types are now being made.

Added caterpillar tractors, traction engines, all manner of road building machines, gasoline tank trucks, water carts, portable radio stations, scores of touring cars for officers, etc.

Replaced old-fashioned mule-drawn ambulances with more than one hundred new motor ambulances. Added nearly one hundred traveling cooking outfits.

Provided hundreds of other needs of an army and thrown the spotlight on the absence of thousands of others.

Camera for Aviators.

One of the new devices by which European war aviators obtain a correct photograph of the enemies' position is a camera operated with a trigger like a pistol. It can take clean and distinct photographs for military purposes at an altitude of 600 feet or more. The aviator takes aim and pulls the trigger as though firing a revolver. The pistol camera was invented by the Germans, but one of them was found on board an aeroplane brought down by the French. It was so simple and effective that it was copied in large numbers for French aviators.

More to the Purpose.

"Why in the world did you endorse a check for that fellow, when you didn't know who he was?" "He hypnotized me with questions from Shakespeare." "Well, the next time a chap comes along with a bogus check ask him to quote something from Dun and Bradstreet."

"THE POWER OF SILENCE" SUBJECT OF SPARTA SERMON

BUENOS AIRES IS MUCH MALIGNED --MARGARET MASON

She Found No "Horrid Mashers" There; "They're All Nice Ones," She Declares

"Wherever a woman unattended walks out alone she'll be offended by all the men that she will see," Now this is what was told me, But when I stroll the Avenue And Buenos Aires widely view I pass untrammelled on my way Nor any male has aught to say.

Perhaps you're thinking, with a smile, This lady isn't just their style!

By MARGARET MASON (United Press Staff Correspondent) BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 30.—(By Mail.)—Buenos Aires is a much maligned city as to its masculine manners. Harrowing tales are told from which you gather that the leading citizens and scions of first families have nothing more pressing to do than accost lone females along the avenues with a playful pinch now and then by way of diversion. The stories really had me worried but I am not by nature a George Ade timid sparrow. Neither could I visualize my Buenos Aires visit as being passed in the privacy of my boudoir. The first day here I took the plunge and started out thrillfully at one end of the Florida. I arrived at the other a terribly surprised (I won't deny disappointed) and unpinched person.

Since then I have sallied forth daily unattended and have yet to experience any untoward unpleasantness. To be sure you occasionally catch a muttered remark but as long as it is in Spanish it needn't faze you. It's also true that frequently the men not only stare a bit unduly but even stop, turn and watch you out of sight. Surely a North American woman used to any big city in the United States is immune to a little thing like that.

In plain words Buenos Aires isn't any worse in the "masher" line than New York, Boston, San Francisco or New Orleans. It's not one half as offensive in that respect or rather disrespect as Rome, Madrid or even Paris. Really the Argentine maids and matrons rather encourage the stares and remarks of the male contingent than otherwise. As they pass by in their elaborate frocks and drills they feel slighted and discouraged unless they leave a wake of admiring glances and ecstatic gasps of "hermosa" or "simpatica." You can't blame the poor things for being grateful for a little masculine attention on the streets. That's about the only time the men ever notice them. Buenos Aires is indeed a man's town and wives and daughters are used mostly to adorn the home. Almost all the smart breakfasts, banquets and functions at the Plaza, the Jockey club of the Paris hotel are stag affairs while stagnation is the usual lot of the women save for the wild excitement of going to the opera or to church.

There are semi-weekly dances at the Plaza now, and dansants and musicals but these are attended mostly by the American and English fair sex while the true Argentine lady bides at home with the exception of a few young girls who come well chaperoned.

Florida (pronounced Flor-ee-da) is the Fifth Avenue of B. A. Here are the largest and smartest shops and along its way everyone who is anyone promenades or motors. It is a woefully narrow street with room on its sidewalks for only two people to walk comfortably abreast. From 4 till 8 p. m., however, all vehicles are barred and then the pavement is used as a promenade.

The Argentine women dress most elaborately, their furs are sumptuous and their hats are laden with wonderful artifices and Paradise that to us are as forbidden fruit. Their fingers and ears glitter with the most beautiful diamonds I have ever seen and yet they wear their clothes with the rue chic of a Parisian. Still there is no trace of a too lavish ostentatiousness or vulgar display. Beautiful abundant hair and small, well shaped feet are the two extreme charms of the Buenos Aires belle. The first is accentuated by being always perfectly dressed and well cared for, the second by the most extravagantly designed and well made of foot gear. Almost any foot would look attractive in the short vamped, high heeled Parisian last that is all prevalent here. Exquisite are the high boots of bronze, patent kid and suede, some made as if molded to the foot with no visible laces or fastenings. The tiny evening slippers, sandals and couthurs, strapped and gleaming with brilliant buckles are fit for fairy feet. They make the North American woman, all fitted out in the long vamped effects of our present shoe modes, want to sit on her Chicagoesque tootsies in rage while the Argentine Cinderellas prance up to the head of the beauty class feet foremost.

John Seiforth, who came to La Crosse to sell trinkets at the Interstate fair, pleaded guilty on Saturday to stealing two blankets and two pillow tops from another fair vender. He paid a fine of $10.

David Grant will be heard in county court next week on a charge of stealing $12 from Martin Harrigan.

In Old Peru. According to El Bien Agricola of Chiclayo, recent explorations made at a place called Huaca Pintada, situated between the districts of Tucume and Illimo, resulted in the discovery of Inca ruins of great importance which the authorities have ordered to be preserved as carefully as possible in their original state.

ROCKEFELLER SEES HARD TIMES FOR NATION AFTER WAR

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 30.—"Friends" and "panics" were the terms used by Percy Rockefeller, New York city, here Saturday for the annual meeting of the stockholders and board of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, forecasting conditions in the United States after the European war.

"The United States will be a friendless nation and the country will face the greatest financial disturbance of all times, following the close of the European war," said Rockefeller, who is one of the directors of the Milwaukee road.

"About our only hope is conservation," he said. "We have simply got to keep our heads. Every nation will be scrambling for the gold we have garnered from the war and they will all be trying to get their hands on it and it is going to take some pretty fast thinking to keep their hands off."

Rockefeller also believes the time will come when all the railroads will electrify their lines to some extent. "The Milwaukee already has 441 miles of it," he said.

Others expected here to participate in the annual meeting are Stanley Field, Ogden Armour, and A. J. Earl- ing of Chicago.

Those here are Rockefeller, J. D. Ryan, H. R. Williams, New York, and L. J. Pettit.

The operations for the year show an operating income of $31,361,195 gross corporate income of $346,844, 646 and net corporate income of $16,717,357.

Ten hundred and sixty-eight men and boys enrolled in the membership of the Y. M. C. A. in the past year, a record for the local association. Many associations over the country have had to face a raise in the cost of membership dues, owing to the advance in prices for all supplies, printing and etc. If the membership in the local association can be maintained at its high mark of the past year, such an issue will not have to be raised here.

The outlook for the coming year is exceedingly bright and if the workers measure up to the confidence placed in them there is believed to be no question that the campaign will result in a great success when it closes. Nearly two hundred men and boys have already enrolled for the coming year and it is fully expected that the number will pass the three hundred mark by the opening of the campaign. Special committees are being arranged in the boys' department for the campaign for boys' membership. These will be announced next week.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—September wheat took a sudden drop of 3-8 cents when belated holders turned loose of the grain they had been saving for higher prices. September closed down 3-8 at 1.52; December down 3-4 at 1.54; May down 1-8 at 1.52 5-8.

Corn attracted little attention on Saturday, September closing down 1-4 at 89 3-4; December down 1-4 at 73 1-4; May down 1-4 at 76 1-8.

Oats had a narrow range on light sales, September closing up 1-2 at 46 1-8; December down 3-8 at 48 1-8; May down 3-8 at 51 1-8.

GERMAN ATTACKS ON SOMME BEATEN BACK SAYS LONDON

LONDON, Sept. 30.—British troops improved their positions at Stiff and doubt, north of Thiepval and beat off German counter attacks at the Heslian trench Friday night. General Haig reported Saturday afternoon.

The fighting at the latter place was very severe, despite a heavy down pour of rain that converted the shell wrecked trenches into great pools of mud and water in which Germans and British fought.

The Germans shelled British positions south of the Ancre from the Westmont farm to a point south-west of Le Sars village, toward which Haig's men are approaching. Despite this artillery attack, the British continued to improve their positions on the whole Thiepval sector.

Weather Hinders French PARIS, Sept. 30.—The French gained some ground north of Ran-court Friday night, but rainstorms continued to hinder operations on the rest of the Somme front, it was officially announced Saturday.

and hollow mockery has ever been shown in Wisconsin that the professed sympathy of these men for the workers of Wisconsin, when contrasted with their personal and public acts and I want to specifically substantiate the statement and tear off the mask of such hypocrisy and deception.

"One of the fundamental indications of the real sympathies of men's hearts for humanity, for more human welfare, for the upbuilding of citizenship is shown in their attitude toward child labor. Men whose hearts and lives are dominated by greed are willing to exploit the lives of children in child labor because it is cheaper to get without a thought or consideration of the undermining of the American citizenship of the future by such selfish policies. The thought and sentiment of the great mass of Americans is hostile to child labor and men who would tear down the legislative restriction to prevent the exploitation of the lives of children in industries and turn back the commendable progress humanity is making in this direction, are lacking in the leadership and vision that speaks for a really greater and better country.

"Acts and records of the forces in the present administration show utter servility to human greed on the great question and to turn their backs on their hidden and secret work reveals these leaders in a position that ought to bring on them a fitting rebuke from the people of Wisconsin.

The Quarry Bill

"In my judgment one of the blackest pages in the record of the Phillip administration is this effort to break down legislation passed in Wisconsin for the protection of children in industry and the effort made to cut down the child labor age limit in one of the most dangerous of employments—stone quarries.

"A bill was introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman Edwards of Waubesa county, one of the strongest supporters of Governor Phillip to permit children to be employed in stone quarries. It applied only to stone quarries and cut the present age limit for the employment of children two years in this one industry. This bill was supported in the assembly by nearly every prominent supporter of Governor Phillip's and was finally defeated by only one vote after a most bitter struggle of the forces that wanted to protect the lives of our children.

"At the time the bill was up, it was evident that the dominating forces in the present every possible power to get this bill through, but the force of enlightened public opinion interested in conservation of human life defeated the enactment of the measure.

"Now it develops that George A. West, the administration's active manager during the primary campaign, and now the chairman of the republican state committee, directing Governor Phillip's campaign for re-election was one of the powerful forces interested in striking down this child labor legislation.

The Quarry Lobby

"The lobby book in the secretary of state's office, which fortunately exposes the men and motives selfishly behind many measures, betrays the information that the Lake Shore Stone company paid fees during the last legislative session to James A. Drought, a professional lobbyist, to lobby for the passage of this exact bill, the number of the bill, the name of the lobbyist, the amount of the fee, and the name of the Lake Shore Stone company being shown on the state lobby book.

"The records of the secretary of state's office also disclose the fact that George A. West is president of the Lake Shore Stone company and Charles F. Pfister, noted republican leader of olden times, is a director.

"Here then is the president of this company, which sought the special privilege of breaking down the child labor law in Wisconsin to serve their selfish interests, elected as chairman of the state committee to direct the Phillip campaign while the lobbyist who received the fee for such effort along with fees from many other Wisconsin corporations, James A. Drought, is elected by the platform a presidential elector to represent the republican voters in Milwaukee.

ORIGINALITY OF IOWA COUNTY FAIR IS KEPT THROUGH FIFTY YEARS

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special).—

Four thousand people attended the Clayton County fair at National Wednesday though the day was raw and cloudy. With the exception of three or four hundred all of the four thousand came by automobile, for Clayton County's fair is held out on the prairie, distant from railroad and town, just as the first fair was in 1856. There is no other county in the state as far as is known that has preserved a distinctly rural setting for its agricultural fair. If we except the fact that the water is now pumped from the well by a gasoline engine instead of by a horse in a treadmill as formerly and that the amusement features are the modern kind there have been few changes. The main building erected fifty years ago has not been remodeled or added onto and patchwork quilts still appear in the department of women's exhibits.

This does not signify that Clayton county farmers are unprogressive but merely that the original purpose of the fair has been lost sight of somewhat and Clayton county people now gather fair days for the pleasure of a day's outing and picnicking and for the friends rather than for agricultural reasons. The ground comprising twenty acres of rolling prairie with groves of maple and box elder is considered one of the most beautiful fair grounds in the state.

Quite a number of those who attended the first fair a half century ago were present Wednesday. Conspicuous among them was Judge O. Crosby of Garfield who is approaching his ninetieth birthday. Others were Dr. Amelia Sherman, Miss Althea Sherman, Mrs. Margaret Demo, Mrs. Frank Howard, Miss Ann

Williams, S. H. F. Schulte, Mrs. Fred Werges, Mrs. L. R. Robbins, Mrs. John Hartwick, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oelke, H. H. Barnard and Mrs. Patterson. In speaking of early days Miss Sherman said, "In those days practically everybody came in lumber wagons. There were only a few covered buggies. They were so noticeable we always knew who was coming when we saw one of them drive onto the fair grounds."

A unique display this year was an exhibit of family heirlooms by Mrs. Cray Prentice. Mrs. Prentice is a daughter of Judge Cray who settled near Garfield in 1848. The family still lives on the site of the first home and their land holdings are among the largest in the county. The ancestors of the Cray family lived in Connecticut. A member of the family is now Chief Justice of the Connecticut Supreme court.

The exhibit includes a collection of silver spoons which have been in the family from 75 to 100 years, specimens of beautiful needlework and bead work of nearly a hundred years ago, a pair of slippers worn by Judge Cray's sister at her wedding 73 years ago and later at the wedding of the mother of former Governor William Larrabee, a lace handkerchief no less than two feet square which was carried by the same sister at her wedding and another handkerchief which a daughter of the family carried at the inaugural ball of Andrew Jackson. Other articles of interest in the exhibit were a tortoise shell comb of great age and size, a "corset board" made of hand carved whalebone, a brass warming pan, a foot warmer in church, a whale oil lamp and an immense pewter used for serving the family boiled dinner.

measures to benefit the people, to conserve human life, to advance the cause of humanity, when at Madison is written in state records their acts and motives that belie their platform words.

"What mockery this is! What a burlesque on the great drama of human life betterment America is staging in this modern day! What a travesty on sincerity and square dealing in politics! The lives of little children made a plaything and a mockery in platform provisions that are a sham and a fraud when written by men who have fought to tear down this great humane legislation in Wisconsin.

"No wonder men lose faith in platform principles when a complete record of facts like these is given pitiless publicity. No wonder men throw away their party badges and turn their backs on such deception and fraud as this and refuse to follow such leadership. The real spirit and meaning of the present administration's platform on this subject lies not in their promises but on the actual work and effort of Chairman West and Presidential Elector Drought when they were seeking, one as an official of a corporation, and the other as its lobbyist, a special privilege, with the aid of the administration forces.

"The records of the Industrial commission show that quarries are the third most dangerous occupation in Wisconsin. When employees are injured as is so often the case in quarries, under the Workmen's Compensation law they are paid on the basis of sixty-five per cent of their earnings for the previous year.

Cut Compensation

"If this effort of these men had been successful not only would child labor be employed because it is cheaper but when the bodies of little children are mangled or torn by explosions the amount of damages to be paid for such injuries, would be lower than for adults, because their average earning capacity the previous year would be less and hence from the standpoint of greed it would be cheaper to kill and injure them.

"What can the people of Wisconsin expect from promises and professions that rest on such foundations?

Calls Economy Sham

"Is it any wonder the people of Wisconsin look with suspicion all along the line, particularly when under the pretense of tax reduction for all the people and economy in state affairs, the present state administration has in reality now that the truth is known, saved five million dollars in tax reductions and favors for special interests and big business at the expense of the people as I have substantiated and proven in previous speeches.

"This record of one year's service for privilege seeking institutions in the state capitol at Madison has no parallel in the history of the state and the democracy of Wisconsin invites the support of men of all parties to drive this administration out of power, to bring about genuine economy, and square dealing in state affairs, to prevent any further exploitation of the people in millions of dollars of tax reductions for special interests and to sustain and advance Wisconsin's legislation that is constructed to bring more human welfare and better citizenship in this state."

Good Crowd at Mindoro

MINDORO, Wis.—(Special).—Burt Williams, democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin, and E. J. Kneen, Bangor, and party, spoke here at noon Saturday to a large audience. Big crowds greeted the candidate when he spoke at Onalaska and Holmen on Saturday morning. Williams will speak at Bangor and West Salem in the afternoon.

TROOPS AT HUNTER

HUNTER, Texas, Sept. 30.—The provisional twelfth reached here Saturday after a twelve-mile hike. They have now covered fifty-three miles of the eighty-three miles of the return march. The division is expected to reach New Braunfels Sunday.

BADGER BRIGADE HUSTLES BACK TO SAN ANTONIO CAMP

(Special to The TRIBUNE.)

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 26.—The Twelfth division, U. S. A., began to make preparations for an early departure Wednesday morning. All the men whose arches were still weak after the three days' rest either had their arches strapped up or were sent back to San Antonio by train. Many of the men had made warm friends among the people of Austin in their three days' stay and regretted the order to move Wednesday morning. But as a dress parade must be put on by the Twelfth division October 4, no delay could be granted for the return trip.

State Officers Visit

General Boardman, General Holway, Major Seaman and Major Williams of Wisconsin, visited Camp Mabry Monday and found the conditions satisfactory.

Andy Kleppin, cook of the sanitary corps has been reduced to the ranks until the troops again reach San Antonio. The sanitary corps was not allowed to have an individual mess tent but were divided up among the companies (two men to each company). Several times Andy was taken for a boy scout by the people of Austin, and now goes under the title of "Mascot."

The men again signed the payroll and expect that the pay will be received soon after reaching Camp Wilson. Along the route to Austin the men bought fruit and other extras and for that reason are all broke. The family support blanks providing for the support of the men's families while in service of the United States government have been received to be filled out by the men.

The Provisional Ambulance Company A of Wisconsin has received instructions to be ready to turn in the equipment as soon as they arrive in San Antonio. The company was formed only for the Austin hike and was to be disbanded after the hike.

Anxious for Home

The men spend a great deal of their spare moments talking about the return to Wisconsin. They are about split on the subject, one-half thinking that they will be sent home within a month while the other half expect to spend the winter in the south. Although almost all of the men wish to return home, the greater majority would rather stay in the south all winter if they are not returned by November 15. The days have been very warm of late although the early mornings are cool.

The Twelfth division arrived in San Antonio Saturday and pitched camp at 10:15 a. m. at Camp Mabry. The 15,000 troops were given a hearty welcome by the people of Austin and were reviewed by Governor Ferguson of Texas and General Frederic Funston, as the column passed the state capitol.

The head of the column crossed the Colorado river bridge at 9 a. m. but the rear (which was composed of the wagon train) did not pass till after 1 p. m. Four hours time was taken for the division to pass review. Austin was crowded with visitors and everybody was overawed at the sight of such a great number of troops.

Badgers Best Marchers

The men of the Wisconsin brigade stood the hike the best of any of the troops, although many of the men's feet were blistered and sore from the six days' march. No maneuvering or drill was given the men while in Camp Mabry for the men were allowed to rest up for the return trip.

Not a Loss in Co. M

Company M was one of the two companies in the Third Wisconsin completing the hike without losing a man. This is a very remarkable record and Captain Fowler was very well pleased with the showing of his men.

EXTRA! BREMEN CAPTURED, WASHINGTON HEARS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—

The German submarine cargo boat Bremen has been captured by the British and is now at the new British naval station, Rosyth, at the mouth of the River Forth on the coast of Scotland, according to apparently reliable reports reaching Washington Saturday.

BETHMANN-HOLLWEG PRESSED FOR MORE EXPLICIT PLEDGES

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg met with the budget commission of the reichstag Saturday in a secret session that will have a most important bearing on the future conduct of the war.

The chancellor faced members who have criticized him for his alleged failure to wage more energetic war on England and men who still advocate a resumption of vigorous submarine warfare. Supported by a renewed outburst of editorial opinion and by attacks on American neutrality in Saturday's papers, they pressed the chancellor for more explicit pledges than were contained in his reichstag speech on Thursday.

On the outcome of this conference will depend whether Bethmann-Hollweg's opponents will continue to wage open war on him when the reichstag reconvenes next week.

Trofit-taking sales and a bar raid based on reports of resumption of submarine warfare sent several stocks down during the first hour. Republic Steel slumped five points, later recovering three to 80 1/2. United States Steel sold down to 116 1/2, then rebounded to 118 and Crucible lost four points, recovering half on the upturn. Sales were 472,000 in the first hour.

CANADIAN GELDING AND INDEPENDENCE HORSE CLOSE FAIR

Mischief of Winnipeg Furnishes Thrill in Third Heat of 2:12 Pace and Wins the Race

WAS FAR IN THE REAR

Pocketed Behind Breaking Horse, Mischief Leads at Half Mile and Scampers Home a Winner

Mischief, plucky little gelding from Canada, and Bill Bailey, Independence, Wis., were the chief dispensers of excitement at the closing day of the Interstate fair races Friday. Barring Thursday, when races were called off on account of rain, the meet was probably one of the most successful ever held on the local track. The races of Thursday were those run.

Mischief was just what his name indicates. He was up to all sorts of capers on the track and his tricks netted him first place in the 2:12 pace, the fastest event of the meet, carrying a purse of $800.

He took the first two heats in easy fashion over Captain Heir-at-Law and Kid Riley. It was in the third heat that the thrill was furnished. He got away to a good start, but was pocketed a hundred yards from the start behind Billy Law, who broke, and the favorite found himself in last place by eight lengths. At the quarter mile mark he was in the middle of the field, and at the half led by a nose. From then on it was gravy for the Canadian.

Consistency featured the first event of the day, the 2:25 pace, purse $400. Bill Bailey, the Independence horse, Joann McKinney of Beloit, Little West, a West Union, Iowa, mare, and May Solon, entered from Vinton, Iowa, finished in their order in straight heats. Every heat was made below scratch, Bill Bailey going the first in 2:19 3/4.

As fast a track as could be desired was the result of two days of rain, then sunshine and hours of dragging. It was in almost perfect condition.

The card:
2:25 Pace, Purse $400
Bill Bailey, b. g. (P. E. Van Horn, Independence) 1 1
Joann McKinney, b. m. (T. B. Goodall, Beloit) 2 2
Little West, c. m. (E. S. McClellan, West Union, Ia.) 3 3
May Solon, b. m. (Henry Eldridge, Vinton, Iowa) 4 4
Time—2:19 3/4, 2:20 3/4, 2:20
2:12 Pace, Purse $800
Mischief, b. g. (Geo. Spencer, Winnipeg) 1 1

LOUISVILLE WINS A. A. GONFALON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 30.—Louisville won from Toledo on Friday and clinched the American association pennant. If the team loses the three remaining scheduled games of the season, all with Toledo, it still would have a lead over Indianapolis, the nearest contender. Louisville to date has won 100 games and lost 64. Defeat in those remaining would bring its losses up to 67 and make its percentage .598. Should Indianapolis win all of its remaining four games with Columbus, it would give that club a percentage of .592 for 99 games won and 68 lost.

MAULBETSCH'S GOOD FORM CHEERS YOS

Johnnie Maulbetsch.

Capt. Johnnie Maulbetsch, one of the greatest backs Michigan has seen since the days of Willie Heston, and affectionately known as the "human bullet," has shown such great speed for this early stage of the season that Coach Yost is greatly cheered. One man like Maulie goes a long way in bringing a team out in front.

SCRIMMAGE HELD ON NORMAL'S SOD

The normal firsts and seconds staged a short period of scrimmage on their own field in the Fair grounds Friday afternoon. The play was the first of the year on the sodded gridiron. Although the first scored three touchdowns during the play, Baker playing center on the seconds repeatedly broke through McCormick and Bogda to tackle the back for big losses. Crider of the seconds also showed up well. Benjamin, whose regular position is in the backfield, played end in Friday's workout, supplanting Miller. Fagin, the Indiana youth who has been put in the backfield, is a regular end man.

BOSTON DEFENSE IS TOO MUCH FOR THE HIGHLANDERS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 30.—Boston's tight defense turned back New York without a score on Friday, while the league leaders hammered out three runs off Shawkey. Ruth, for Boston, held New York to five hits, divided between Gedeon and Magee.

New York, as in the other two games of the series, made a rally in the ninth inning, filling the bases with only one out, but a fast double play spoiled their chances for a run. Boston's three runs came on a double, a single, a base on balls, an error, a triple and a sacrifice fly. Scott whose playing at short has been the sensation of the series, had another good day, together with Gardner, Janvrin, Lewis and Shorten. The score:

SISTER OF LOCAL WOMAN WINS CUP IN GOLF TOURNAY

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Friday's Hero
Babe Ruth. The Red Sox southpaw shut out the Yankees and drove the Boston club half a game nearer the clinch for the American league pennant.

Bob Shawkey saw the game streak to the outfield on three hits, an error and a sacrifice fly.

The New Yorkers staged their daily rally but it was killed by a fast double play.

Jack Barry, despite promises to the contrary, has not appeared in the Red Sox lineup since the team returned home.

The Tigers went out after the Browns just the same as if they still had a pennant to win and won, but they are no longer in the pennant sleaze chase. Cobb, getting a safe blow, was instrumental in putting the winning runs over.

The Browns got only one run off the seven hits they made off Mitchell.

Jeff Pfeffer and Eppa Rixey, opposing each other in Brooklyn, had everything all set for a tight battle when the rain spoiled proceedings.

The Giants had scored a run and were on their way to their twenty-sixth victory when the same rain descended across the river in the Bronx.

STOCK, PHIL FLASH, HAS QUEER CAREER

John Milton Stock.

He landed with the Phillies in a trade and thought he was lucky when he got into the world's series the fall following. Mit says he'll be in another this fall, too.

FROST HITS MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 30.—A sharp frost which nipped tomatoes, cucumbers and beans still clinging to vines, hit Milwaukee early Friday morning when the mercury dropped to 36.

BELL'S REGULARS GO DOWN FIELD BEFORE SECONDS

In the first practice game on the year, Friday, the high school firsts trounced the seconds to the tune of 56 to 0. The regulars using a new shift imported from the east by Coach Bell, went down the field time and again without much opposition from the second. Layman was the individual star, making five of the six touchdowns. The other was made by "Big Rude" Blatter on a tackle over tackle play. Owing to the fact that no goal posts have been erected no tries at goal were made.

The regulars lined up as follows: Argall, left end; R. Blatter, left tackle; Lisovec, left guard; Bleakly, Bunge, center; Bunge, Bleakly, right guard; I. Blatter, right tackle; Regat, right end; Pratt, quarter; Layman, left half; Spittle, right half; Youngberg, full.

Burroughs' toe was of great help to the seconds, keeping the firsts from scoring three or four more touchdowns. Youngberg, also did some good kicking, but as the firsts developed a good running attack, he was not called upon as often as Burroughs.

TAYLOR MAKES BID FOR QUARTERBACK JOB ON VARSITY

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 30.—More rain forced the University of Wisconsin football squad to hold its workout in the stock pavilion on Thursday. Coach Withington was more successful than his predecessor in obtaining the use of that building for practice.

The new coach is somewhat disgusted with western football weather, but is not letting it hinder in any way his progress with the varsity.

The fight for the quarterback position is on hotter than ever. Glen Taylor has been put in charge of the team that looks like a skeleton of a future varsity, but his place there is by no means secure, from the way his rivals have been handling themselves recently. He is a little more familiar with the game than some of the other candidates competing against him for the position, but Byron Nelson, who has attracted particularly favorable comment, is close behind him and drawing closer every day.

The Ashland lad has plenty of fight such as he displayed against Illinois last fall, but is nowhere near as fast as Nelson, who can beat any man on the squad with the possible exception of Red Kelley, end candidate, and Arlie Mucks, who in spite of his weight is a speeder in football togs.

All Things Work Together for Good.

The merely moral is not the only good! Righteousness is not the only virtue! Love is not all, justice is not all, charity, patience, humility, these are not all. It may be that in some future consummation—in the kingdom of heaven if one will—there is place for the fruits of wickedness, sobel that they were begotten of power. Indeed he who has lived out his three-score years has discovered in his own progressing selfishness, that life's whole does not lie in gladness or in sorrow only, or in duty only, or in reaching or renouncing the heart's desire, or in accomplishing the beheld achievement of the mind; but perhaps in all of these, and in much besides that seemed unrelated to any good, but rather connected with palpable lapses.—Henry Osborn Taylor, in Atlantic.

Brush Finish for Brass.

Steel wool will be found to be a very useful material for giving brass and similar metals a brush finish by rubbing them with it. Care should be taken that the rubbing is done in one direction, otherwise a scratched surface will result. A lacquer should be applied to prevent tarnishing. A thin solution of white shellac in alcohol applied with a brush is satisfactory as a lacquer for large work, and small pieces may be dipped in the solution. Anciently the plant equiseta or "mares tails," was employed as a polisher, and as many a sportsman has found by experience with a rusty gun, provides a very fair, and not exceedingly "scratchy," polisher.

In Churches

First Congregational
 The First Congregational church, Seventh and Main streets, Rev. Carlos C. Rowison, pastor. In most countries of the world today, men are free to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. Three hundred years ago, there was scarcely one country of which this was true. In America, men have almost always had this freedom. None did more to make this freedom possible than the Pilgrim Fathers, whose centenary the Congregationalists and others are already beginning to celebrate.

At 11 o'clock service on October 1, the pastor's sermon will be, "The Pilgrim Fathers." An invitation is extended to all who are interested in the beginnings of our spiritual freedom to attend this service. Miss Millie Fristad, one of the new teachers at the Normal school, will sing, and Miss Helen Jacobson will be at the organ.

In the evening at 7:30, in the church parlors, there will be held a very interesting service, to which all are invited. The church has employed Mrs. Louise B. Esch, who has spent several recent years in special church work in Chicago, to spend the month of October here. Mrs. Esch will give her energies principally to the fuller organization and development of the church school. In order properly to introduce Mrs. Esch, she will speak at the evening service upon the subject, "The Church and the Young People." Miss Julia Beebe, a student at the Normal school, will render a violin solo. The church school meets at 10 o'clock.

Gas Is the Efficient Industrial Fuel

Gas is rapidly displacing other kinds of fuel in hundreds of industries because it is the fuel of efficiency

Gas, always reliable, is ideal for industrial purposes. It involves no outlay for storage—there is no dust, smoke or ash—all the fire needed awaits the turn of a valve and a light. Gas heat can be regulated—and the temperature is constant.

Gas may be used to advantage in practically every industry where fuel is consumed. The above illustration shows its economical application in a bakery. It can undoubtedly be just as profitably used in your factory.

Call Phones 112 and we will explain how Gas will save you time, labor, money and material.

Mission Meet At Minneapolis

With the meeting of the American Missionary association in Minneapolis October 17-19, leaders in Congregational affairs say they enter upon the second stage of efforts for a new Congregationalism in America. For upwards of a decade they have been perfecting machinery, getting work co-ordinated, bringing voluntary societies into direct relation to the churches, and selecting leaders whom others were glad to follow. Now the next task is, they say, to bring up churches themselves into such state of activity as will cause them to use these new and better tools. The responsibility is held to be that of the National Council, which led in the organization plans.

President Henry Churchill King of Oberlin, who is also president of the council, will be on hand to further the association's plans, and also to make two of the principal addresses. Other speakers to be heard include President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, and the Rev. Vincent R. Booth of Massachusetts. The last named will present the new openings in Latin America, which are to be entered upon by the association as representatives of Congregationalists.

Would Keep Religion Out of Politics

Inquiry of those men—ministers and laymen—in New York and Washington who guide affairs of religious bodies, brings to light the fact that both Protestants and Catholics are doing their best to keep religion out of the present political campaign. Conferences have been held between Protestant and Catholic leaders, both in New York and Washington, and at least one is known to have taken place in Chicago.

THE HASKIN LETTER

"Open All Night"

If You Can't Sleep and All Your Friends Go Home in Kansas City There Yet Remains the Movie Show.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30.

THE demands of the most enthusiastic movie fans have been satisfied. No longer is it necessary for the follower of the film to go home at the early hour of midnight, after the last show in the third house he visits has been closed. He can sit up and watch the reel just as long as the spirit sustains him. He can get up and take his breakfast at 2 a. m. and go to see a picture show before work, even if he drives a milk wagon. The all-night movies have made their appearance. They run the clock around. Several cities already have managers too enterprising to close just because it is getting along toward morning; no doubt it will not be long before Mary Pickford theater parties at three a. m. are an established feature of social life, and film followers will watch the dawn and Charley Chaplin flash forth together.

It Gathers Importance

Kansas City's all-night picture show is an inconspicuous feature of Twelfth street early in the evening. It shines forth as brightly as its narrow front will permit, but it is only one spark in a long row of illumination. Wait five or six hours though until most of the street and the town has gone to bed, and its white lights stand out like a campfire in the tall timber. It upholds the greatness of the movies in spite of a hostile clock and the besetting weakness of mankind for slumber.

The average man, who likes his movies but also likes his sleep, has nevertheless a certain curiosity as to what strange class of humanity it is that makes it profitable to run a show that never closes. So the average man, after vainly struggling against the power of Morpheus for two or three evenings, finally takes a cup of black coffee or a cold shower-bath to keep himself awake and sallies forth to look into the matter.

The narrow entrance gives in to an unexpectedly spacious little theater decorated with a quiet dignity that is only fitting and proper. For this is more than a mere picture show. It is a temple where the real worshippers of the Film-Muse sit up with her through the night watches. You are no true movie fan if you do not occasionally obey that impulse to watch a reel while the morning star is setting.

All Regulars Out at 12:30

Early in the evening—say at midnight—the crowd is still a typical movie crowd. Family parties still fill the seats, with an occasional child leaning asleep against its fascinating mother. When the hero and the villain reel clenched about the little country school house and knock over the stove to the great damage of the stove-pipe, the audience sits up and says "A-ah!" as movie audiences will. Young men and the maidens they are taking to the show sit primly side by side. About twelve-thirty the hero marries the school-teacher, the pianist plays the wedding-march from Lohengrin with great uncton, and most of that audience flies out.

It leaves the house somewhat empty, and settling down to the real business of making a night of it. The pianist removes his coat, revealing a pair of ball-bearing suspenders draped over his shoulders. He has need to be a man of stout physique. No early quitting for him at one a. m. You wonder how he squares himself with the Musicians' union, as he plays on and on toward the dawn. He is indefatigable, and full of the artistic conscience. His work keeps up to the mark through his audience slumbers. He plays "School Days" for the school scenes and the "Light Cavalry Overture" when somebody chases somebody; his tempo never falters.

Meantime the real night audience is drifting in. It dawns upon you that a city does not really sleep at night; only a new set of characters comes forth to use the streets—as schools are used under the Gary plan. By one o'clock the house is comfortably but scattering filled again. Everybody picks a seat or two or three distant from his nearest neighbor and sprawls over the intervening chairs. The strict conventionality of the ordinary picture show is relaxed. Most of the newcomers are in shirt-sleeves; smoking is permitted. Acquaintanceships are struck up; criticism of the film proceeds audibly. This audience is blasé and cynical. They do not respond with a single thrill. The hero and the villain knock over the stove again on the fifth round of their nightly grind without eliciting a single gasp. One man leans his head on his folded arms, draws a long sigh and goes to sleep. Presently he begins to snore. The excellent pianist looks disparagingly over his shoulder, but plays on never missing a beat.

The Sketch Targets

A good part of the audience is readily identified and classified. There are taxicab chauffeurs, and motormen off duty at midnight, and a row of waiters from various all-night lunches of the neighborhood filling one corner of the hall with comment in the tongue of Socrates. There is the pretty cashier of a nearby restaurant identifiable by a yellow pencil stuck in her black hair. Another young woman, resolute and trimly dressed, causes a dozen necks to crane when she enters. You wonder what she is doing here, until presently she produces a pencil and a block of paper and begins to make sketches. She evidently represents art and the new woman and emancipation. Probably she has a protector in the background. The habitues sigh and sink back in boredom. They are used to being sketched.

Now and then a gloomy and dignified cow-puncher drifts in, balances his new Stetson on one knee while he smokes a cigarette, and departs in ten minutes. Not so one or two young couples down in the front rows. They were here when you arrived, and they must have seen the bill at least twice already. They sit on and on, their eyes on the screen as though hypnotized. You speculate vainly as to what they are staying for, and vainly over the purpose and business of some of the rest of the audience. A few are plainly here out of curiosity. There are one or two restless couples who seem to be capping off an evening at the theater and a subsequent supper with a reel or two of movies. But what of these half-a-dozen staid and common-place old gentlemen who sit rigidly erect in their neat business suits, scattered here and there among the audience? Are they catching a train or troubled by insomnia, or escaping from family troubles? And what of the good-natured, middle-aged married couple who stroll in as though it were quarter of three in the afternoon instead of the morning.

They Come to Sleep

These are more or less puzzles, but the "regulars" among the audience make their purpose clear enough. They have come to sleep, though why here is another mystery. They do not look indignant, but they lean their heads against the chair behind them, or the wall, or the chair in front of them, and slumber peacefully sprawled in all the attitudes of relaxation. The pictures utterly fail to keep them awake though the hero is a young Virginian who writes plays and scatters his r's all over the printed cut-ins of conversation. The young lady sketches the sleepers busily.

One or two of the "regulars" do not sleep. There is an old gray-bearded gentleman who comes habitually, they tell you, sitting attentive and critical and slightly bored, like a German baron at the opera. A boy of eighteen comes in with the familiarity of habit, takes a seat under one of the shaded wall-lights and proceeds to dig grimly into a book. Why he comes here to read or study, heaven knows. Perhaps his passion for the film is too strong for him, and he saves his conscience by pretending to work while he watches. The lighted clock on the wall strikes a single little bell at three o'clock, with a reproachful "Tut!"

Two Hours For Sleep

The young Virginian playwright marries the school-teacher for the third time running. Sitting here you glimpse something of the awful finality of a moving-picture film. That playwright will go on breaking the stove and marrying the teacher over and over again until the end of time. The management breaks the spell by flashing an announcement telling the audience that the doors close at four a. m., but all who will may stay until six o'clock. The audience doesn't care, apparently. Most of it is asleep. The screen announces that the film is being turned by a Union operator. In case you should not believe it they give you his number, and the number of his union. The man next to you notes down the number on an envelope, as though it were vastly important. He is half-asleep.

In fact, everybody is either half or wholly asleep. The faithful couples up front have gone to sleep. Most of those present have seen the show at least once, but they make no move to go. There is a dreamy enervated atmosphere about that warns you that you too will presently be asleep. So you arise and go forth.

You find yourself at a step in the chill, deserted foggy street. It is just before dawn, when as any novelist can tell you, courage and optimism are at their lowest ebb. Twelfth street is a drab and dispiriting thoroughfare in the darkness. Only the electric lights before the picture show glow brightly. The proprietor sits behind his grille, arranging his nickels and dimes in neat stacks. His sign glows dauntless at his feet—"Open All Night."

THE W. B. U. AGAIN PROVES ITS POPULARITY

The Wisconsin Business University opened its Fall term Sept. 5th with the best attendance in many years. Good methods, expert teachers, fine equipment and the constant success of "WBU" graduates, convince the people that the school is worthy of its high reputation sustained for twenty-five years.

This is a picture of our general assembly room taken Thursday, September 8, 1916, the third day of school this year. There are six other rooms in the school; first and second shorthand departments; typewriting departments; general and private offices; and recitation room; not counting cloak rooms, etc., etc. The "W. B. U." occupies nearly ten thousand square feet of floor surface and is one of the largest, best equipped and most complete business training schools in the United States. Our students' dances, parties, etc., are held in this large room. See Students' Bank in distance. Note the fine lighting and perfect condition of the school.

This picture shows less than one-fourth of our main shorthand department. Picture taken Sept. 14, this year. The object of this picture is to show the equipment of office machines. We believe we have the most complete equipment in the entire Northwest. We have fifty typewriters also.

1. Type font for electrical duplicator.
2. Todd Check Protector, recognized by banks as the only sure and safe protector.
3. The famous Burroughs Adding Machine. The "WBU" is the only school that has a text book for this complicated work.
4. General filing cabinet for ordinary alphabetical filing.
5. Complete filing cabinet designed by "V & E" Co. especially for teaching. Card indexes, transfer filing, etc., etc.
6. Copy press and books.
7. Lock ledgers for banking.
8. The Stenotype, or machine shorthand. The "WBU" is the only school in this part of the country that teaches its use.
9. Mimeograph.
10. Motor driven, electrical duplicating machine. Turns out a thousand letters an hour.
11. Dictaphone. The business man can dictate his letters to the machine at night. The stenographer transcribes them in the morning.

TOMAH MAN WAYLAID BIG SUM OF MONEY AND HORSE STOLEN

George Smith Is Knocked from Wagon Near Lemonweir Bridge and Rendered Unconscious for Time

TOMAH, Wis.—(Special.)—George Smith, who lives east of the Tomah Indian school, was robbed Thursday night of a large sum of money and a pint of whiskey. His horse was also stolen.

Mr. Smith came to town early in the morning with a load of potatoes, returning home at about 10 o'clock. As he approached the Lemonweir bridge on the north road towards the Indian school, he was halted and knocked from his wagon, not regaining consciousness for some time. He immediately reported the affair to Night Policeman N. A. Grant. Mr. Smith had no clue of any sort, but believes the work was done by Indians. The city officers are making every effort to locate the robbers.

"Silent Policeman" Warns
A "silent policeman" has been set up in the center of the pavement where Milwaukee street crosses Superior avenue. Such a sign is very valuable as it directs traffic and therefore greatly decreases the opportunity of accidents which might come from collisions. More will be set up at the intersection of other streets, if this one proves beneficial. The annual thanks offering of the Missionary society of the Congregational church was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Warren Friday afternoon. A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed. The Misses Carrie Kias, J. G. Smith and W. W. Warren spoke on the work of missionaries. Refreshments were served and officers were elected which were as follows:

President, Mrs. G. R. Vincent; secretary, Mrs. Dan Burky.

Verse and Reverse

THE DAISY'S BOOK
Each page is white, devoid of print, Yet of romance it holds a hint.

"He loves me" and "He loves me not"—She hurries on to find the plot.

She cannot skip a single page, Such interest deep does it engage.

Though curiosity may burst She cannot read the last one first.

Though alternating hope and fear At last she cons the ending clear.

If good or ill, 'tis not reread, Alas, the little book is dead! —Melanburgh in New York Sun.

Other people's self-admiration proves that there is no accounting for tastes.

Do you want a clear skin?

If your skin is not fresh, smooth and glowing, or has suffered from an unwise use of cosmetics, here is an easy, inexpensive way to clear it:

Spread on a little Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for ten minutes. Then wash off with Resinol Soap and hot water. Finish with a dash of clear, cold water to close the pores. Do this regularly, once a day, and see if it does not quickly soothe and cleanse the pores, lessen the tendency to pimples, and leave the complexion clear, fresh and vibrant. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For samples of each, free, write to Dept. S-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When my little brother's trouble began it looked rough and scaly and we thought that he was breaking out with the heat. At first it was just across his forehead, but it kept spreading into his hair and was very red. It itched a great deal which caused him to scratch and he was very cross and would often lie awake nights. His hair fell out and made his head look very badly. "We had him treated but it seemed to make him worse. He had the trouble about four months when I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and afterwards bought more. We used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment according to directions and in about two weeks he was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Susie Van Doren, R. F. D. 1, Camanche, Iowa, July 22, 1915.
